Mayo Clinic, USA

The Faculty's long-term cooperation with the Mayo Clinic Rochester in the USA is prestigious throughout the Czech Republic, where around 15 undergraduate and postgraduate students go each year for a three-month scientific stay, which motivates them to further scientific work and often has a major impact on the successful implementation of their doctoral studies and further career development. At the Mayo Clinic, students from Hradec Králové have an excellent reputation and are a sought-after addition to the research teams there.

This department, with a very prestigious position in the professional world, is renowned for the excellence of medicine performed both research and clinically. The internships at the prestigious Mayo Clinic are made possible by the extraordinary activity and assistance of Professor Zelalem Temesgen of the Mayo Clinic and are a significant professional benefit not only to the participants themselves but also to the entire faculty.
