
Computer Technology Center

The Department of Computer Technology is a specialized workplace for providing services in all areas of information technology for students and employees of the Faculty of Medicine in Hradec Králové.

- It ensures and provides administration and development of the Faculty network and all technical services for IT.
- It develops and services the Faculty website and specialized information systems of the Faculty.
- It services university information systems and participates in their development.
- Finally, it provides research support to other Faculty departments in the field of mathematical statistics.
- It participates in all one-off and extraordinary events, such as the preparation of faculty accreditation and evaluation assessments or some scientific meetings.